WORK EXPERIENCE:

- Cenedu, Perú Front End React JS Developer
Front End React JS Developer.
(September 2022 - Present)

I was assigned this project for having reached the TOP 10 level in my Front End Career in Coder House. It's about developing the web site for an educational organism in Perú, which focuses on providing an e-learning service for the Community, the main goal is to reach people with low resources. The purpose is to achieve an intuitive site accessible for everyone (regardless age, race or gender), with an easy register and navigation, having a friendly and attractive UI for user experience. Being myself responsible for the architecture, development, interactivity and logic of the site/app. Collaborating and making decisions with the rest of the team: the UX UI designer and the Project Leader, so this way we can reach the expected goal together.

- Freelance Professional, Argentina Front End Developer
Front End Developer.
(December 2021 - Present)

Implementation of many projects using different technologies, mainly React JS, JavaScript, Html 5, CSS 3, Sass, Bootstrap, Tailwind, Context, Node JS, Github. Collaborating with other Developers to optimize the functioning of the projects, looking for solutions in the processes, applying the best practices for avoiding bugs, always thinking in making the User have a comfortable experience while navigating the site. Development and implementation of little interactive digital pieces, like (e.g.) dynamic Invitation Cards for Weddings, Birthdays, Corporative Events, etc, where the User doing Click is able to register the event Date on a Calendar, access to GoogleMap to see the exact location, open a modal View to see the Clothing/Dressing code, show and hide Banking Info, and get access to a Form with different fields to complete and others with dropdown options to select between them. These fields completed by the User are stored to give more friendly answers to the user (Sweet Alerts), and lastly once the Form is completed successfully, this info is sent to an API which responds forwarding an e-mail to the client with all the recollated data, so this way having updated the event information (Participants, Selected Menu, Ages, Transportation, etc).
